Why SCA processes your personal data

SCA collects personal data when you, as a stakeholder, provide feedback on SCA's development of wind power on land owned by the SCA Group that is subject to an early-stage dialogue. We do this to share your feedback with wind power developers and respond to it appropriately. If project planning begins, we also need to be able to provide the relevant wind power developer with a summary of all feedback received from stakeholders.

The legal basis for our processing is legitimate interests, based on a balancing of interests. Our legitimate interest is to share your feedback with the wind power developer so that it can be addressed appropriately, and to compile feedback from stakeholders. Where applicable, more detailed information is provided on the relevant webpage when you submit your feedback.
